The Advance.

The whole command of Gen. Banks has crossed the Potomac river, at Edward's Ferry, and occupied Leesburg. This advance is an evidence of a design on the part of our army to press forward upon the rebel army, and compel them either to accept battle or retreat. The rebels appear to be taking the latter alternative, but as feigned retreats have been their strong game ever since the war commenced, our generals will, we trust, be cautious about coming to the conclusion that this is the true theory. The Washington letter writers begin to talk about our vessels and steamers "running the blockade" on the Potomac. This is a phrase which we desire to see exclusively applied to the rebels. We do not like to bear of the closing of the Potomac by the confederates, and it is to be hoped that the government will immediately dispose of the batteries along that river. Why the rebels have been permitted to erect them is one of the inscrutable things connected with the management of this war. We hope to hear of an "advance" upon Matthews Point before many days, as well as upon the "five miles" of batteries said to exist between that and Aquia Creek.

Who Gets up the News about Fremont?

The New York Tribune has had numerous telegraphic dispatches recently, stating very certainly that Gen. Fremont's removal had been decided upon; and also giving minute details of the orders issued to him by the secretary of war. These telegraphic dispatches first came from St. Louis, then from Cincinnati, and finally they now emanate from Washington. This matter has an explanation in the fact that one of the writers employed on the New York Tribune, is Mr. Wilkinson, formerly one of the editors of the Albany Evening Journal; he has been traveling in the west with the Secretary of War and Adj. Gen. Thomas, and is moreover said to be a friend of Secretary Cameron. Hence he is supposed to have had unusual facilities for gaining information; and for unfortunately his statements, he has allowed the malignant enmity of Thomas against Gen. Fremont, to color his dispatches, and hence they have gone beyond the truth. This Thomas is a clerk of the secretary's and hence the Tribune's dispatch writer had good reason to suppose himself well posted; and perhaps he was, at the time, but state affairs change, sometimes very suddenly. Doubtless this Mr. Wilkinson followed the Secretary of War to Washington, and has been using Thomas there as his "medium," and hence the positive nature of his dispatches. Still Fremont is not yet removed, and he yet continues at the head of the western military department. So far, Mr. Wilkinson's journey has not paid the Tribune his expenses, in the way of late news, and we are inclined to believe he will continue a poor investment. Whatever certain members of the cabinet might wish to do against Gen. Fremont they are afraid to take the responsibility of his removal; and have now, it is said, turned him over to the president. The best way is to let matter where it is; and also that the New York Tribune should call its special reporter home, as his sensational dispatches are getting stale.

General B. F. Butler made a speech at Burlington, Vermont, on Wednesday evening. He said that if any foreign nation dared to interfere in our intestine war, we would cease dealing with southern traitors as erring brothers, delicately and tenderly, and should arm every loyal man, north and south, both black and white, bond and free, until treason and its abettors are exterminated, and the meddlesome world taught a salutary lesson. This sentiment was received with overwhelming plaudits.

Six regiments of northern troops entered that state yesterday—three Pennsylvania, one Indiana, one Ohio and one Wisconsin. At least a dozen additional regiments will go in before the close of the month. Indiana has five regiments all ready but the guns, and they are in process of shipment from the east. Ohio has an equal number about ready for a southern excursion.—Cincinnati Commercial, Oct. 22.

Last Night's Report.

Special to the New York Post.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. The sudden stoppage of navigation on the Potomac has produced a commotion among the shipping at Mathias Point and its fate is yet uncertain. It is believed the government will speedily take effective measures for clearing away the obstacles to permit the free passage of vessels on the river there.

Gen. Halleck is now on his way to Washington from California. It is reported he will be assigned a high command in the army immediately on arrival. Gen. Scott's health is very much impaired. Advanced age and severe bodily infirmities begin to tell upon him.

The funeral of Col. Baker will take place in this city to-morrow. Great preparations are making for the obsequies.

The treasury department has allowed an old claim of the National Intelligencer, amounting to $20,000. It is the same Secretary Dix rejected.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.

Dispatches to the Philadelphia Inquirer say that the regiment of Col. Baker, together with those engaged with it, are said to have lost two hundred in killed and wounded in the late action. Col. Baker, it is said, was a prominent mark for the enemy's bullets. He was struck by a ball in the heart, four in various parts of the body, and three in the head. Col. Baker, when he was killed, was on horseback and dressed in full uniform. It is said that one hundred Mississippi rifles were aimed at him when he fell.

A telegraphic dispatch from General McClellan's headquarters is said to have been received at the war office at two o'clock this (Tuesday) afternoon, stating that Leesburg would be taken in an hour. There has been sharp fighting in that neighborhood all the morning. It was also reported that Gen. Scott and Gen. Banks had crossed the Potomac, and were advancing with fifty thousand men on Leesburg.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.

The Washington Star of the 23d says the expedition from Annapolis sailed yesterday. In addition to the troops from Annapolis, as many more join the expedition at Old Point, having been quietly shipped for this end from New York, Boston and elsewhere.

The North Star brings all the officers and crew of the sloop-of-war Lancaster and one million treasure.

New Granada, excepting the states of Canoa, Antioquia and Santafé, are now in arms against Mosquera.

The Panama Star has received intelligence by a British steamer from St. Thomas, that the pirate Sumter is still cruising among the windward islands.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

CANTO, Oct. 23.

An expedition consisting of the companies of the 2d Illinois cavalry, one company of infantry from the 11th regiment, under command of Major J. J. Weed, embarked on the steamer Memphis this morning, and landed on the Kentucky shore, and proceeded south to the plantation of Col. Turner, of the rebel army, expecting to meet with a force of seceders, who were reported to be quartered on Turner's plantation; but on arriving at the place no enemy was found. A search was made of the premises, which resulted in the discovery of numerous letters confirming the treason of Col. Turner, and implicating other parties, among whom his Gov. Magoffin. No arms were found, but in face of evidence present, it was deemed proper to capture the vessel, and take the mules and horses, forty in number, which was done. The expedition returned here at seven o'clock this evening with their prizes.

A man named John Moore shot a teamster of the 18th regiment early this morning, in a house of ill-fame. The wound is dangerous.

The tug-boat attending the gun-boats, went down to Columbus this afternoon, with a flag of truce. The object is an exchange of prisoners.

The regiments are being paid off to-day.

To-day's Report.

(Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.)

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.

Generals McClellan, Banks and Stone have been on the Virginia side of the river all day, in the vicinity of Leesburg, and it is telegraphed to headquarters to-night that our troops are in possession of that place. The whole of Gen. Banks' command have crossed the river, so that our forces now are in sufficient strength to meet any number the rebels are capable of concentrating at that point.

A reconnaissance in force was made to-day by the camp of Gen. Blenker's division, by way of Arundel, within a few miles of Fairfax, without discovering any tokens of the rebel forces. It is evident that the enemy have retired still farther from the front of our lines.

I am informed by the highest authority in this government, that the published statement in a New York paper to-day, that at a cabinet meeting yesterday, all the members of that body pronounced judgment that Fremont should be superseded and that the order to this effect be issued to-day, is untrue. No such decision was made by the cabinet, and as a matter of course, no such order has been issued. The facts are, the condition of affairs in Gen. Fremont's department was discussed in cabinet yesterday. Some of the members were in favor of depriving him of his command immediately, and ordering him to be tried by court martial; others opposed such action, while in his present position in the face of the country. The subject occupied the president and cabinet for several hours, when they decided by vote, to leave the whole matter to the discretion of the president. The latter finds the question a very difficult one to settle; involving, as it does, not only the great personal interests of the government, but perhaps immediate and important military results, together with the law officer of the government. He will give the subject a thorough investigation, and decide it in accordance with the facts.

Cassius M. Clay, our minister to Russia, has intimated to the government that in view of the threatening attitude of the rebels, he would prefer to surrender his present commission as representative to Russia, and enter the army in active defence of the government. The cabinet has the subject under consideration, and Kentuckyans are anxious for the return of the gallant Cassius.

World's dispatch.—Only the Rhode Island officers stood by their guns, the men retreating early in the fray. The enemy charged from the woods in all directions, converging upon our force. They were bravely met, but the slaughter of our best officers and men was so terrific, that the federalists were at last obliged to retreat. Col. Baker was killed by a horseman who rode closely up to him and fired five shots from a revolver, all taking effect. The player was at once brought down in turn by Capt. Dorrell. The same brave man recovered Baker's body, heading a charge of his company for that purpose.

The California regiment took over men and officers, six hundred and eighty-nine. The drowned are about fifty; killed thirty; prisoners three hundred, and wounded one hundred and twenty-five; total five hundred and eighty; safe about one hundred and eighty-four.

Two howitzers and two field pieces of the Second Rhode Island battery were hauled up the hill and effectively handled during the fight by Col. Baker himself, aided by Wistar, his adjutant, Col. Cogswell of the 1st California. The forces which crossed the Potomac were as follows: 1st battalion of the California regiment 689; Massachusetts 13th, 1,000; Massachusetts 20th regiment, about 500; Tammany regiment, 1,000; total 2,389.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.

On the advent of the news of the fall of General Baker, General Lander was immediately ordered to the scene, being at that time making arrangements to proceed to a new command higher up the Potomac.

Gen. Gustavus W. Smith was not at the fight at Edward's Ferry. The rebel army was commanded by Gen. Evans. To-day noon the army was not in force in our immediate front nearer to Washington than Centerville. All their troops are withdrawn from Fairfax Court House and Station, except picket guards.

EDWARD'S FERRY, Oct. 23.

During a skirmish last evening, nearly opposite this point, Gen. Lander received a painful flesh wound in his left leg. The ball has been extracted and no danger to life or limb is apprehended.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.

The Richmond Whig, a copy of which has been received here, in an editorial on the war says that all the indications point to a long war. After commenting upon what it terms the safe policy of acting on the defensive, which has been adopted by the rebel generals, a policy which the editor fails to appreciate and showing the supreme the federal forces gain, threatening the whole coast and able to assail at any point the extended frontier of the south, the following declaration of despair is uttered:

"The possibility of our success is not within the range of accident; to prevent our subjugation or extermination is all we can hope for. We have no skill in strategy and know nothing of the means at the command of our generals, but if this is all that is left us, we have as well be looking for terms of submission, and the sooner the better; an endless war which affords no opportunity for either victory or revenge, is a hopeless undertaking. The southern people who have offered themselves and their all for the prosecution of this war, and have placed implicit confidence in the men invested with its conduct, have looked for something better. It is not to be denied that a sense of unqualified distrust is gradually supplanting that of generous confidence; that a suspicion is gaining ground that all the advantages of our position have been profligate, but might not have been; that the war has not been prosecuted with the vigor and energy demanded by the emergency. We hear mutterings and complaints apart from those connected with the quartermaster, commissary and medical departments, growing out of the appointment of so many civilians to high command, many of whose appointments have filled the country with apprehensions of disaster."

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.

Judge Bond to-day sentenced John King, one of the 12th of April rioters, to one year imprisonment and five hundred dollars fine, at the same time telling him that the testimony against his conviction for murder, and all taking part in that riot were guilty of murder.

At the fair of the Maryland institute, the commander of the Home Guard and a large delegation proceeded to the hall, demanding that the band of the Independent Blues should play national airs, which had been suppressed. The band struck up Hail Columbia, which was received with cheers and waving of handkerchiefs by the ladies, and cheers for Gen. Scott, Union, Dix and McClellan by the crowd outside.

Tribune's special.—Col. Hayes, of Kansas, arrived here to-day, as bearer of dispatches containing certain charges against Capt. Prince, commander at Fort Leavenworth. The principal difficulty in his refusal to fill the requisition of Gen. Lander.

The following are to be assistant adjutant generals.—Capt. Wm. H. Schaefer, to report to Gen. Wool, Louisville. Capt. F. Keittler, to report to Gen. Wallace at Paducah.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.

The frigate Niagara arrived at the mouth of the Mississippi on the 14th. The sloop-of-war Delaware was spoken on the 16th on the gulf stream, cruising.

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 23.

The steamer Spaulding returned from Hatteras Inlet last evening. She brings no news of importance. There had been no military movements in the vicinity of the Inlet. A few days ago six rebel steamers made their appearance there, but withdrew without making any demonstration.

STEAMER McCLELLAN arrived from Southwest Pass 14th, Fort Pickens 15th, Tortugas 16th and Key West 19th.

On the morning of the 9th, about 3 o'clock, the enemy attacked Col. Wilson's position in force. Company E 3d Infantry, Capt. Hildt, and 25 men company A 1st artillery, Lieut. Taylor, 80 men in all, under Major Vodge, met the enemy some distance from Camp Brown. Major Vodge was taken prisoner immediately. Capt. Hildt taking command, engaged the enemy. Our loss was 4 killed and 21 wounded and 8 prisoners. The enemy's loss was much larger. Eleven of their men were found in one heap. Major Arnold arrived after daylight to the assistance of Capt. Hildt. The command proceeded to a point where the rebels had disembarked, just as their steamers were leaving, and opened a destructive fire. Enemy's loss left on the island was 22 killed, 5 wounded, and 33 prisoners. Many of the wounded were carried off. Capt. Bradford and Lieut. Elms were killed, and three officers captured—one of them Lieut. James, formerly of the United States marines, who was badly wounded.

Gen. Anderson was in command of the rebels and was wounded in the arm after disembarking. The enemy acknowledged the loss of over one hundred. In addition to the loss on our side, above stated, the Zouaves lost nine killed and eleven taken prisoners.

The Zouave camp was situated on Santa Rosa Island, about one mile from Fort Pickens, and was so distributed as to command all the approaches to the fort, and also to protect batteries. The rebel forces, fifteen hundred strong, embarked from the Pensacola navy yard in three large steamers, and landed on the island about four miles above the camp. It was about two A. M., and very dark, and they rapidly formed in three columns, and proceeded silently towards the Zouave camp, hoping to effect a total surprise. In this they were partially successful. The picket guard, stationed about six hundred yards from camp discovered and fired upon them, giving the alarm, which saved the regiment from annihilation.

The attack of the rebel columns was simultaneous, and volley after volley was aimed upon the volunteers. They were forced to fall back, leaving their camp in the hands of the rebels, which they commenced burning.

Fort Pickens was by this time aroused and three companies of regulars came to our assistance. The rebels then commenced retreating to their boats, closely followed by the regulars and a small number of volunteers, keeping up a destructive fire upon them, killing and wounding a large number; the rebels finally reached their boats, but their steamers were over 500 yards from the beach and our men poured repeated volleys and by the shouts and confusion of the rebels, it was evident we had obtained ample satisfaction.

The Zouaves were badly managed, and Col. Wilson very much censured for inefficiency—not reaching the scene until all was over. The officers and men lost almost everything. Major Newly had a narrow escape from capture, being confined to his bed by dangerous illness. The regiment lost 10 killed, 16 wounded and 9 prisoners. The regulars lost 1 killed, 20 wounded and 10 prisoners. Rebels' loss by their own statement, 350 killed and missing. We took 300 prisoners, including three doctors, who were released.

The McClellan brings reliable accounts of the night attack on the morning of the 13th. The rebel fleet consisted of six gun-boats, the ram, Manassas, and a large number of fire ships, which filled the river from shore to shore. Our squadron comprised the Richmond, Huntville, Mitok, Preble and Vincennes, and store-ship Nightingale, moored at anchor inside the southwest pass. The Manassas drifted foul of the Richmond, knocking a hole in her quarter and stern, doing but little damage. To avoid the fire ships, the squadron got under way immediately and drifted down the river. The Richmond, Preble, Vincennes and Nightingale got ashore on a bar, and while ashore, were attacked by the rebels. Only one of the ships took effect, and that struck the Richmond on her quarter. They were beaten off by the Manassas, with her guns; who having thrown the rest over board, and the rest of her armament, with her chains, anchors, &c., to lighten her, she being much exposed to the rebel fire. Not one person was killed or wounded in the squadron. The Richmond, Preble and Vincennes were towed off next day by the McClellan. The Nightingale was still ashore, but would probably get off next day.

A Flight—Zolliecoffer, Repulsed—Battle of Wild Cat.

TUESDAY, A. M., Oct. 22.—People at Camp Dick Robinson are sounding the loud timbrel. Notwithstanding a lowering sky and humid atmosphere, hilarity reigns. At about two o'clock this morning a courier with his escort dashed up the road, on a foaming steed, with tidings of a Union victory at Wild Cat. Gen. Schenck announced, in a brief dispatch to Brigadier General Thomas, that Zolliecoffer, with 6,000 infantry and 1,500 cavalry, attacked him in position yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, and was repulsed. At 1 o'clock p. m. he renewed the attack at another point, and was again repulsed. At a later hour he made a third unsuccessful attack, and was again repulsed. The federal loss was four killed and twenty wounded. The rebel loss was not ascertained, because our men did not leave their position.

Zolliecoffer, no doubt, supposed that Col. Garrard had not been reinforced. His original force was his own regiment and part of another. Subsequently a battery (of six guns) reached him, and on Saturday and Sunday the 17th Ohio, Col. Connel, and the 33d Indiana, arrived. The guns of the battery were not brought into play vigorously, until the second attack, when a few rounds drove back the rebels. The dispatch from Gen. Schenck treats the affair as an "attack," not as a reconnaissance en force. I infer, however, that the rebel General was endeavoring to feel his position, which is represented to me as capable of formidable defence against great odds. The news of the fight inspired the troops and they manifested much anxiety to press forward.

It is not known whether Zolliecoffer employed his whole force in the attack, but the inference is fair that only one division had not reached Wild Cat when the fight took place, but they will probably arrive there to-day. Capt. Kenny's battery is now deploying into the pike en route for the scene of action.

THE NUMBER OF UNION SOLDIERS IN THE FIELD.

The following compilation is made up from a careful perusal of all the messages or documents of governors or adjutant generals of states which have been published during a month past, as well as all letters, without exception, from army correspondents of all the leading newspapers, and of the telegraphic dispatches to the associated press. This statement, accordingly, of the number of troops now in the field or in camp or barracks to be put in the field by the first of November is as nearly correct as anything unofficial of the kind can possibly be made. We have omitted from this table the District of Columbia, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Michigan, California, Oregon, and the territories, because we have found nothing sufficiently authentic concerning them. It will be observed that the sixteen free states enumerated below will have three hundred and sixty-two thousand troops ready for the field by the 1st of November. The states above named would probably raise this aggregate above 400,000:

Maine.....	12,000
New Hampshire.....	8,000
Vermont.....	7,000
Massachusetts.....	28,000
Rhode Island.....	4,000
Connecticut.....	10,000
New York.....	78,000
New Jersey.....	50,000
Pennsylvania.....	54,000
Ohio.....	51,000
Indiana.....	32,000
Illinois.....	40,000
Iowa.....	11,000
Minnesota.....	3,000
Wisconsin.....	10,000
Kansas.....	6,000
Total.....	362,000

The funniest thing published recently is the paragraph about the tone of bullets. Some gay soldier boy says he caught the pitch of the large-sized Minie. It was a swiftness from E. H. to E. and it passed in to the distance and lost its velocity, receding to D—a very pretty change. The boy wisely allowed the "pretty changes" to continue.

In India, where the cholera, in its most malignant form, first emerged and spread throughout the world, it has again made its appearance, and is terribly destructive of human life. It is probable that it may a second time pass over Europe and this country.

THE BERMUDEA.—We have learned the following important facts respecting the English steamer Bermuda, which recently ran the blockade into Savannah. An English sea captain was on board also, who took command when other vessels were in sight. Her orders were to make for Fort Hatteras and hoist a private signal, which would be answered, and if not answered to go to Savannah. She made Hatteras and hoisted her signal, which was not answered, causing great alarm. Just then an English vessel hove in sight, and she reported to them that she was in distress, being out of water, and they then learned that Fort Hatteras was in the hands of the federal forces. She then made for Savannah. She made Tybee Light at 2 A. M., ran by the fort, and seeing no vessels, put about and ran in. She was met off the Light by a flotilla, which escorted her up to the city amid the ringing of bells and firing of guns.

Her cargo was 18 large rifle guns, two Whitworth 121-pounders, one of which was immediately sent to New Orleans, 7,500 Enfield rifles, 18,000 Enfield rifles, with fixed ammunition to all of them, 90,000 first quality shells, 90,000 overcoats, besides quinine, morphine, thread, needles, etc.

A return cargo of cotton was prepared for her, which she commenced to take on board, but the populace stopped it, saying she should take no cotton to England. She was loaded and ready for sea on the 4th of this month, with a cargo of rice, naval stores, and a few bales of cotton.

Two other vessels, with similar cargoes, were daily expected from England.—N. Y. Tribune, 21st.

The Advance.

The whole command of Gen. Banks has crossed the Potomac river, at Edward's Ferry, and occupied Leesburg. This advance is an evidence of a design on the part of our army to press forward upon the rebel army, and compel them either to accept battle or retreat. The rebels appear to be taking the latter alternative, but as feigned retreats have been their strong game ever since the war commenced, our generals will, we trust, be cautious about coming to the conclusion that this is the true theory. The Washington letter writers begin to talk about our vessels and steamers "running the blockade" on the Potomac. This is a phrase which we desire to see exclusively applied to the rebels. We do not like to hear of the closing of the Potomac by the confederates, and it is to be hoped that the government will immediately dispose of the batteries along that river. Why the rebels have been permitted to erect them is one of the inscrutable things connected with the management of this war. We hope to hear of an "advance" upon Matthias Point before many days, as well as upon the "five miles" of batteries said to exist between that and Aquia Creek.

Who Gets up the News about Fremont?

The New York Tribune has had numerous telegraphic dispatches recently, stating very certainly that Gen. Fremont's removal had been decided upon; and also giving minute details of the orders issued to him by the secretary of war. These telegraphic dispatches first came from St. Louis, then from Cincinnati, and finally they now emanate from Washington. This matter has an explanation in the fact that one of the writers employed upon the New York Tribune, is a Mr. Wilkinson, formerly one of the editors of the Albany Evening Journal; he has been traveling in the west with the Secretary of War and Adj. Gen. Thomas, and is moreover said to be a friend of Secretary Cameron. Hence he is supposed to have had unusual facilities in gaining information; but unfortunately for his statements, he has allowed the malignant enemy of Thomas against Gen. Fremont, to color his dispatches, and hence they have gone beyond the truth. This Thomas is a clerk of the secretary's, and hence the Tribune's dispatch writer had good reason to suppose himself well posted; and perhaps he was, at the time, but state affairs change, sometimes very suddenly. Doubtless this Mr. Wilkinson followed the Secretary of War to Washington, and has been using Thomas there as his "medium," and hence the positive nature of his dispatches. Still Fremont is not yet removed, and he yet continues at the head of the western military department. So far, Mr. Wilkinson's journey has not paid the Tribune his expenses, in the way of late news, and we are inclined to believe he will continue a poor investment. Whatever certain members of the cabinet might wish to do against Gen. Fremont they are afraid to take the responsibility of his removal; and have now, it is said, turned him over to the president. The best way is to let the matter rest where it is; and also that the New York Tribune should call its special reporter home, as his sensational dispatches are getting stale.

General B. F. Butler made a speech at Burlington, Vermont, on Wednesday evening. He said that if any foreign nation dared to interfere in our intestine war, we would cease dealing with southern traitors as erring brothers, delicately and tenderly, and should arm every loyal man, north and south, both black and white, bond and free, until treason and its abettors are exterminated, and the meedless world taught a salutary lesson. Six regiments of northern troops entered that state yesterday—three Pennsylvanians, one Indiana, one Ohio and one Wisconsin. At least a dozen additional regiments will go in before the close of the month. Indiana has five regiments all ready but the guns, and they are in process of shipment from the east. Ohio has an equal number about ready for a southern excursion.—Cincinnati Commercial, Oct. 22.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.

The sudden stoppage of navigation on the Potomac has produced a commotion among the shipping at Matthias Point and its fate is yet uncertain. It is believed the government will speedily take effective measures for clearing away the obstacles to permit the free passage of vessels on the river there.

Gen. Hancock is now on his way to Washington from California. It is reported he will be assigned a high command in the army immediately on arrival. Gen. Scott's health is very much impaired. Advanced age and severe bodily infirmities begin to tell upon him.

The funeral of Col. Baker will take place in this city to-morrow. Great preparations are making for the obsequies.

The treasury department has allowed an estimate of the National Intelligence, amounting to $20,000. It is the same Secretary Dix rejected.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.

Dispatches to the Philadelphia Inquirer say that the regiment of Col. Baker, together with those engaged with it, are said to have lost two hundred in killed and wounded in the late action. Col. Baker, it is said, was a prominent mark for the enemy's bullets. He was struck by a ball in the heart, four in various parts of the body, and three in the head. Col. Baker, when he was killed, was on horseback and dressed in full uniform. It is said that one hundred Mississippi rifles were aimed at him when he fell.

A telegraphic dispatch from General McClellan's headquarters is said to have been received at the war office at two o'clock this (Tuesday) afternoon, stating that Lee's army would be taken in an hour. There has been sharp fighting in that neighborhood all the morning. It was also reported that Gen. Stone and Gen. Banks had crossed the Potomac, and were advancing with fifty thousand men on Leesburg.

CAIRO, Oct. 23.

An expedition consisting of three companies of the 2d Illinois cavalry, one company of infantry from the 17th regiment, under command of Major J. J. Weed, embarked on the steamer Memphis this morning, and landed on the Kentucky shore, and proceeded south to the plantation of Col. Turner, of the rebel army, expecting to meet with a force of seceders, who were reported to be quartered on Turner's plantation; but on arriving at the place no enemy was found. A search was made of the premises, which resulted in the discovery of numerous letters confirming the treason of Col. Turner, and implicating other parties, among whom is Gov. Magrath. No arms were found, but in face of evidence presented, it was deemed proper to arrest the officer, and take the mules and horses, forty in number, which was done. The expedition returned here at seven o'clock this evening with their prizes.

A man named John Moore shot a teamster of the 18th regiment early this morning, in a house of ill-fame. The wound is dangerous.

The tug-boat attending the gun-boats, went down to Columbus this afternoon, with a flag of truce. The object is an exchange of prisoners.

The regiments are being paid off to-day.

To-Day's Report.

(Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.)

MORNING DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.

Generals McClellan, Banks and Stone have been on the Virginia side of the river all day, in the vicinity of Leesburg, and it is telegraphed to headquarters to-night that our troops are in possession of that place. The whole of Gen. Banks' command have crossed the river, so that our forces now are in sufficient strength to meet any number the rebels are capable of concentrating at that point.

A reconnaissance in force was made to-day from the camp of Gen. Blenker's division, by way of Arundelle, with a few miles of Fairfax, without discovering any body of the rebel force. It is evident that the enemy have retired still farther from the front of our lines.

I am informed by the highest authority in this government, that the published statement in a New York paper to-day, that at a cabinet meeting yesterday, all the members of that body pronounced judgment that Fremont should be superseded, and that the order to this effect be issued to-day, is untrue. No such decision was made by the cabinet, and as a matter of course, no such order has been issued.

The facts are, the condition of affairs in Gen. Fremont's department, was discussed in cabinet yesterday. Some of the members were in favor of depriving him of his command immediately, and ordering him here to be tried by court martial; others opposed such action, while in his present position in the face of the enemy. The subject occupied the president and cabinet for several hours, when they decided by vote, to leave the whole matter to the discretion of the president. The latter finds the question a very difficult one to settle; involving, as it does, not only the great personal interests of the government, but perhaps immediate and important military results, together with the law officer of the government. He will give the subject a thorough investigation, and decide it in accordance with the facts.

Cassius M. Clay, our minister to Russia, has intimated to the government that in view of the threatening attitude of the rebels, he would prefer to surrender his present commission as representative to Russia, and enter the army in active defence of the government. The cabinet has the subject under consideration, and Kentuckians here are anxious for the return of the gallant Cassius.

World's dispatch.—Only the Rhode Island officers took by the guns, the men retreated from the fray. The enemy emerged from the woods in all directions, converging upon our force. They were bravely met, but the slaughter of our best officers and men was so terrific, that the federalists were at last obliged to retreat. Col. Baker was killed by a horseman who rode closely up to him and fired five shots from a revolver, all taking effect. The slayer was at once brought down in turn by Capt. Dorrell. The same brave man recovered Baker's body, heading a charge of his company for that purpose.

The California regiment took over, men and officers, six hundred and eighty-nine. The drowned are about fifty; killed thirty; prisoners three hundred, and wounded one hundred and twenty-five; total five hundred and fifty; safe about one hundred and eighty-four.

Two howitzers and two field pieces of the Second Rhode Island battery were hauled up the hill and effectively handled during the fight by Col. Baker himself, aided by Wistar, his adjutant, Col. Cogswell of the Tammam company, and Capt. Dorrell of the 1st California. The forces which crossed the Potomac. The following: 1st battalion of the California regiment 689; Massachusetts 13th, 1,000; Massachusetts 20th regiment, about 500; Tammam regiment, 1,000; total 2,389.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.

On the advent of the news of the fall of General Baker, General Lander was immediately ordered to the scene, being at that time making arrangements to proceed to a new command higher up the Potomac.

Gen. Gustavus W. Smith was not at the fight at Edward's Ferry. The rebel army was commanded by Gen. Evans. To-day noon the army was not in force in our immediate front nearer to Washington than Centerville. All their troops are withdrawn from Fairfax Court House and Station, except picket guards.

EDWARD'S FERRY, Oct. 23.

During a stormish last evening, nearly opposite this point, Gen. Lander received a painful flesh wound in his left leg. The ball has been extracted and no danger to life or limb is apprehended.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.

The Richmond Whig, a copy of which has been received here, in an editorial on the war says that all the indications point to a long war. After commenting upon what it terms the false policy of acting on the defensive, which has been adopted by the rebel generals, a policy which the editor fails to appreciate and showing the supremacy the federal forces has gained, threatening the whole coast and able to assail at any point the extended frontier of the south, the following declaration of despair is uttered:

"The possibility of our success is not within the range of accident; to prevent our subjugation or extermination is all we can hope for. We have no skill in strategy and know nothing of the means at the command of our generals, but if this is all that is left us we had as well be looking out for terms of submission, and the sooner the better; an endless war which affords no opportunity for either victory or revenge, is a hopeless undertaking. The southern people who have offered themselves and their all for the prosecution of this war, and have placed implicit confidence in the men invested with its conduct, have looked for something better. It is not to be denied that a sense of unqualified distrust is gradually supplanting that of generous confidence; that a suspicion is gaining ground that all the advantages of our position have been profligate, but might not have been; that the war had not been prosecuted with the vigor and energy demanded by the emergency. We hear mutterings and complaints apart from those connected with the quartermasters, commissary and medical departments, growing out of the appointment of so many civilians to high command, many of whose appointments have filled the country with apprehensions of disaster."

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.

Judge Bond to-day sentenced John King, one of the 12th of April rioters, to one year imprisonment and five hundred dollars fine, at the same time telling him that the testimony warranted his conviction for murder, and all taking part in that riot were guilty of murder.

At the fair of the Maryland institute, the commander of the Home Guard and a large delegation proceeded to the hall, demanding that the band of the Independent Blues should play national airs, which had been suppressed. The band struck up Hail Columbia, which was received with cheers and waving of handkerchiefs by the ladies, and cheers for Gen. Scott, Union, Dix and McClellan by the crowd outside.

Tribune's special.—Col. Hayes, of Kansas, arrived here to-day, as bearer of dispatches containing certain charges against Capt. Price, commander of the 1st Missouri Cavalry. The principal difficulty is his refusal to fill the requisitions of Gen. Lane.

The following are to be assistant adjutant generals.—Capt. Wm. H. Scheater, to report to Gen. Wool, Louisville. Capt. F. Koellter, to report to Gen. Wallace at Paducah.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.

The frigate Niagara arrived at the mouth of the Mississippi on the 14th. The sloop-of-war Dale was spoken on the 16th on the gulf stream, cruising.

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 23.

The steamer Spaulding returned from Hatteras Inlet last evening. She brings no news of importance. There had been no military movements in the vicinity of the Inlet. A few days ago six rebel steamers made their appearance there, but withdrew without making any New York, Oct. 24.

Steamer McClellan arrived from South-west Pass 14th, Fort Pickens 15th, South-gas 18th and Key West 19th.

On the morning of the 9th, about 3 o'clock, the enemy attacked Col. Wilson's position in force. Company E 3d infantry, Capt. Hildt, and 27 men company A 1st artillery, Lieut. Taylor, 80 men in all, under Major Vodge, met the enemy some distance from Camp Brown. Major Vodge was taken prisoner immediately. Capt. Hildt taking command, engaged the enemy. Our loss was 4 killed and 21 wounded and 83 prisoners. The enemy's loss was much larger. Eleven of their men were found in one heap. Major Arnold arrived after daylight to the assistance of Capt. Hildt. The command disembarked at once where the rebels had disembarked, and after their destructive fire. Enemy's loss left on the island was 22 killed, 5 wounded, and 83 prisoners. Many of the wounded were carried off. Capt. Bradford and Lieut. Elms were killed, and three officers captured—one of them Lieut. James, formerly of the United States marines, who was badly wounded.

Gen. Anderson was in command of the rebels and was wounded in the arm after disembarking. The enemy acknowledged the loss of over one hundred. In addition to the loss on our side, above stated, the Zouaves lost nine killed and eleven taken prisoners.

The Zouave camp was situated on Santa Rosa Island, about one mile from Fort Pickens, and was so distributed as to command all the approaches to the fort, and also to protect the batteries. The rebel forces, a hundred strong, embarked from the Ponacola navy yard in three large steamers, and landed on the island about four miles above the camp. It was about two A. M., and very dark, and they rapidly formed in three columns, and proceeded silently towards the Zouave camp, hoping to effect a total surprise. In this they were, but partially successful. The picket guard, stationed about six hundred yards from camp discovered and fired upon them, giving the alarm, which spread the regiment from annihilation.

The attack of the rebel columns was simultaneous, and volley after volley was aimed upon the volunteers. They were forced to fall back, leaving their camp in the hands of the rebels, which they commenced burning.

Fort Pickens was by this time aroused and three companies of regulars came to our assistance. The rebels then commenced retreating to their boats, closely followed by the regulars and a small number of volunteers, keeping up a destructive fire upon them, killing and wounding a large number; the rebels finally reached their boats, but their steamers were over 500 yards from the beach and our men poured repeated volleys into the crowded mass; every bullet told and by the shouts and confusion of the rebels, it was evident we had obtained ample satisfaction.

The Zouaves were badly managed, and Col. Wilson very much censured for inefficiency—not reaching the shore until the federal forces had been made for Savannah. She made Tybee Light at 2 A. M., ran by the fort, and seeing no vessels, put about and ran in. She was met off the Light by a flotilla, which escorted her to the city amid the ringing of bells and firing of guns.

Her cargo was 18 large rifle guns, two Whitworth 124-pounders, one of which was immediately sent to New Orleans, 7,500 Enfield rifles, 18,000 Remington rifles, with fixed ammunition to all of them, 90,000 first quality shoes, 90,000 overcoats, besides quinine, morphine, thread, needles, etc. A return cargo of cotton was prepared for her, which she commenced to take on board, but the populace stopped it, saying she should take no cotton to England. She was loaded and ready for sea on the 4th of this month, with a cargo of rice, naval stores, and a few barrels of cotton.

Two other vessels, with similar cargoes, were daily expected from England.—N. Y. Tribune, 21st.
